ABOUT ME

A delicate author with musical influences ranging from classic singer-songwriting to contemporary American indie folk, indie and pop-punk, Tullia is an Italian singer-songwriter, born in 1996.

Deeply tied to her roots, she approached music at the age of 11, learning to play the acoustic guitar and then specialising in singing and ensemble music. Over the years, she has performed several times at local and national festivals and events.

Elegant, poetic and profound, her music is a celebration of songwriting, and the gentle - if at times dramatic - storytelling of the feelings that unite us all.
